SentiCare, Inc. developer of PillStation, a revolutionary Medication Adherence System that combines a unique technology platform and a Medications Management Service, announced that it has received funding for the next phase of the company's growth. The company is conducting IRB reviewed protocol trials where the PillStation system will be trialed, enlisted and utilized to increase adherence with three separate illnesses where non-adherence has been shown to result in deteriorating health and dramatically higher costs. They include NYC Dept. of Health to test adherence to antiretroviral medications with HIV/AIDS patients; Columbia University measuring adherence to aspirin regimens with ...
